Introduction (Radiologic Technology)

The purpose of Clinical Education is to acquire mastery of the knowledge and skills required to produce diagnostic radiographs. Mastery of interpersonal skills required to effectively interact with patients and other members of the health care team is another important purpose of clinical education.